Ad mng. 1b: Since the phrases kirbāna ana mē nasāku/nadū occur only in the descriptions of boundaries of fields, plots, etc., formed by a water course, they should be connected with the effects produced by water erosion on the extent of the real estate sold, exchanged, etc. The scribes of Sippar were well aware of these hazards as is shown by íd Idigna ikkal u inaddi “(whatever) the Tigris might eat away or deposit” in the description of a field in an inheritance contract CT 47 58:9. The phrase “it (i.e., the field) drops/throws lump(s of earth) into the canal” indicates that a process of erosion is going on and that the seller wishes to protect himself against later claims as to the actual size of the property. In TCL 1 73:22 the phrase is exceptionally out of context but the text is badly written, as the omission in line 10 shows.

It is uncert. whether the OAk. personal name Kir-ba-núm (also Gir-ba-núm) cited MAD 3 150 is to be considered the same word.
